

LA SOSPECHA DE SOFÍA (Planeta)

(Sofia's suspicion)

Paloma Sánchez-Garnica

UP-MARKET WOMEN'S FICTION
HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

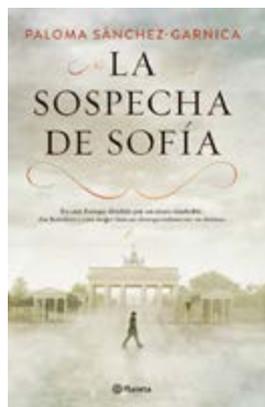

©Asis Ayerbe

Paloma Sánchez-Garnica

(Madrid, 1962) is a History and Law graduate. She is the author of El gran Arcano (The great Mystery) (2006), La Brisa de Oriente (The Eastern Breeze) (2009), and her novel El Alma de las Piedras (The soul of the stones) (2010) was a big hit with readers with five editions being published. La Sonata del silencio (Sonata of silence) (2014) established her among critics and readers as a writer of great literary character.

It was made into a seven episode TV series, broadcast on prime time on Spanish national Television. Both this novel and her next one, Mi Recuerdo es más fuerte que tu olvido (Memory and one, 2016), have enjoyed considerable success in several countries, such as USA, Brazil, Italy and Portugal. La sospecha de Sofía (Sofia's suspicion) (2019) is her latest release.

The mundane lives of Daniel and his wife Sofía change radically when Daniel receives an anonymous letter informing him that Sagrario is not his real mother, and telling him that he must fly to Paris that very night if he wants to know the truth about his origins. Some questions have to be answered. But family secrets can be the most terrifying of all.

And the discovery of an unknown twin brother, one who has decided to steal Daniel's identity and supplant him in his marriage, inevitably unleashes a succession of terrible events... and unexpected encounters. For someone trapped in East Berlin, is anything fair game in the search for freedom? Will Sofía realize what's going on? Or perhaps she has her own reasons for accepting the new situation?

The novel is written in the style we have come to expect from Paloma Sánchez-Garnica: an immersive realism that paints a detailed picture of family life, and has enchanted thousands of readers. This time, the plot incorporates elements of intrigue and investigation, set against a shifting backdrop of Paris on the brink of revolution in May '68, the gloomy streets of East Berlin, and Madrid during the final years of Francoism.

Two brothers and a woman struggle with the legacy of family secrets while the whole of Europe is in crisis, in a novel that is packed with thrilling moments and breath-taking surprises.

RIGHTS SOLD

Italy (SPERLING & KUPFER)

11th EDITION
MORE THAN 50.000 COPIES
SOLD IN SPAIN ALONE

AUDIOVISUAL RIGHTS

Acquired by Frade Producciones

PUBLICATION DATE
26 FEBRUARY 2019